ICC-ES launches new program to increase product awareness, recognition for current report holders

ICC Evaluation Service (ICC-ES), experts in building product evaluation and certification, has introduced a new Affiliate Program to support ICC-ES' clients (building, plumbing, mechanical and gas product manufacturers). The Affiliate Program will help increase the visibility and awareness of manufacturers' products in the built industry, through a number of additional marketing support initiatives, the most important one being the linking of clients' reports and listings to the ICC's online codes portal, premiumACCESS, and shortly thereafter, to ICC's free online publicACCESS code site.

"ICC-ES is pleased to launch this new Affiliate Program, offering manufacturers opportunities to increase awareness of their ICC-ES reports and listings," said ICC-ES President Shahin Moinian, P.E. "This program will also add valuable exposure to specifiers as well as building departments across the United States, who have a long history of using ICC-ES reports in their relevant jurisdictions."

The ICC-ES Affiliate Program consists of 3 affiliate levels (Gold/Silver/Bronze) for purchase and valid for 12 months from the date of application. Affiliate benefits differ for each level and include the following:

- e-Code Premium and e-Code public access linking of evaluation reports and listings (Click here to view example screen shots)
- (ICC-ES News Releases on New ICC-ES Report or Listing (Bronze/Silver/Gold Level)
- ICC-ES Affiliate Recognition - Profile/Logo/Website link on Affiliate page (Gold Level)
- Unlimited Acceptance Criteria (AC) Access (Gold Level)
- ICC News Releases on New ICC-ES Report or Listing (Silver/Gold Level)

Work under way for Advisory Committee to set up ICC's new Emerging Leaders Membership Council

The seven-member Advisory Committee held its first phone conference meeting Nov. 29 and is preparing for its Dec. 13 meeting to make the ELMC operational in time for the 2017 ICC Annual Conference in September. Chaired by Elizabeth Arrington of Versailles, Ky., the Advisory Committee will establish the Charter, set a mission statement, develop bylaws and set long-range goals for the ELMC Governing Committee.

The new Membership Council is an addition to the five discipline-specific existing Membership Councils: The Building Official; Fire Service; Plumbing, Mechanical & Fuel (PMG); Global, and Sustainability Membership Councils. These Membership Councils offer ICC members a place to come together as an effective voice in shaping the association, and to take them to the next level in their industry, careers and futures. The Emerging Leaders Membership Council establishes a place for young professionals to learn and participate as true peers in the Code Council.

“We are providing this opportunity for the leaders of tomorrow because it won’t be our world; it will be theirs,” said Alex Olszowy III, Immediate Past President of the Code Council Board of Directors. The ICC Board approved the formation of an Emerging Leaders Membership Council in support of Olszowy’s “Safety 2.0” initiative, continuing outreach to the next generation of code officials. Research conducted for the Code Council by the National Institute of Building Sciences revealed that over 80 percent of code officials plan to retire within the next 15 years, and more than 30 percent plan to do so within five years.

Alliance for National & Community Resilience seeking volunteers for Governmental Advisory Board

The Board of Directors of the newly formed Alliance for National & Community Resilience (ANCR) has created a Governmental Advisory Board (GAB) and is accepting names and contact information of those who want to serve on it. ANCR exists to create a national benchmark on what makes a community resilient. According to Bryan Soukup, Staff Liaison to ANCR, the GAB’s role is to engage ICC members and other public servants including city managers and city administrators. The Governmental Advisory Board will be crucial to determining the usability of the benchmark. If ICC members are interested in being considered for a seat on the GAB, they should please contact:

TIP OF THE MONTH: If you want to really reach your legislator, use your phone and talk it out

The old commercial about picking up the phone if you want to touch somebody is more true when it comes getting across your point to state legislators. Email sends a message, Facebook might help you vent, but who's going to read it and remember it? Here is a New York Times article on effective communications:
