

IACE Survey of Membership: Training Venues

Starting with the 2015 Spring Training Session, the Illinois Association of Code Enforcement moved the venue for its quarterly training sessions from Elgin Community College to the Centre of Elgin. Facing rising costs to various line items within the budget, and considering that annual dues have been held at the same level that they were when the organization was established in 1993, the Board voted to accept free use of the Centre from the City of Elgin -- a move that is estimated to save IACE approximately $4,000 to $6,000 per year. That being said, the Board wants to ensure that the organization continues to meet members' needs and, as such, has prepared this survey regarding our quarterly training venue.

On behalf of the Board, thank you for participating. Your feedback is very important.
